

Longmont Amateur Radio Club History

Timeline

1930's

An article found in the Longmont Museum archives, written by Lee Oliver (W9ZIY) in 2001 provides a personal view of Farm Life and Amateur Radio in the 1930's in Hygiene, Colorado

Mid 1940's to 1955

A Splatter article in March of 1978 contains a text delivered to the Times for a community column and describes the formation of the club in 1969 by Ray Parnaby and others. This note also mentions that there was a club in existence from the mid 1940's until 1955.

1952 -

A splatter article dated April, 1978 mentions that the first LARC club began around 1952 with Glen Hart was the first president -Ken Hugo as the first vice-president and some of the original members were Eugene and Dorothy Baldwin, Charles Cottrell, James Goss, and Jack and Maylo Scheffer.

A times Call clipping, from the mid to late '50s, announced club meetings on the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 7:30 at the home of Jack Walsh (KNOSLR) President Henry Ankeny – Sec – Maylo Scheffer. Phone # styles and city directories suggest this article appeared between 1956 and 1961.
